Praise for Prosser.

We notice that Hon. Paul P. Prosser of Howard county is a candidate for Congress in the Seventh district.

Mr. Prosser has a legion of friends throughout the State who will be glad to earn of his candidacy. He is a true Democrat and few men in the State or nation are the equal of this brilliant young Missourian as an orator and debater.

The people of the Seventh can rest assured that if Mr. Prosser is their Congressman no district in the country will be better represented. — Jefferson City Democrat-Tribune.

Paul Prosser, of Fayette, one of Howard county's brilliant and successful young attorneys, defeated U. S. Hall in the primary held in that county, February 10, to determine who should be congress. He will now begin an active campaign for the nomination. Mr. Prosser is well known to the people of Brunswick and vicinity, and has many friends here with whom we join in the hope that his candidacy may be successful. He has the talent, intellect and ability to make a statesman of the highest order. — Brunswicker.

The defeat of U. S. Hall by Paul P. Prosser in the recent Howard county primary, was no surprise to the latter's Higbee friends and admirers. In fact if he had not landed on Hall or any other candidate who might have been in the race they would have been sorely disappointed. Mr. Prosser's friends here are legion, and if they were only in his district would vote for him for anything he wanted. The News is especially proud of his victory, for we believe that his election is as sure as sunrise. He is the best orator in the state, and when he gets on the stump, he will simply set things on fire. He is a good lawyer and has made good as prosecuting attorney, prosecuting all offenders alike, and having but one aim in view—the enforcement of the law. Howard county should be very proud of such a gift of son and should stand behind him to a man. Howard has never furnished a congressman, we believe, or one in recent years, at least, but she will certainly do so this time. We certainly hope so, and if she does we are going to claim just a wee bit of credit, for both personally and through the columns of the News we have urged Mr. Prosser to get in the game and go after something worth while. Here's to you, Mr. Prosser. May you lick your opponent so thoroughly that his best friend can't tell him from a last year's corpse. — Higbee News.

Cowpea Hay for Dairy Cows. What about the hay crop? Will you have plenty of good forage for next winter or will you be forced to fall back on straw or crab grass hay? Cows cannot maintain their milk yields unless fed liberally on the right kinds of feeds. These feeds must contain a relatively large amount of protein. This is furnished most cheaply in forage. It is not found in sufficient quantities for milk cows in timothy, prairie grass, crab grass, sorghum, or straw, but is found in cowpea, soy bean, alfalfa or clover hay.

Cowpea hay has about the same feeding value as alfalfa and is some better than clover. Cowpeas can be sown after wheat or oats and will generally mature enough to cut for hay before frost. As soon as the crop, which they are to follow is removed the stubble land should be double disc and then harrowed to make the best possible seed bed. The seeding can be done with an ordinary grain drill using the oat cups wide open. This will sow at the rate of 4 or 5 pecks to the acre.

It is best to cut the peas for hay when the first pods ripen, shocking them in narrow high shocks the day after cutting and allowing to cure in the shock for a couple of weeks. With favorable weather the hay will be ready to bale, stack or mow away at the end of that time. Rains do not harm the hay very much when in the shock.

On average soil sown as indicated above in an average season, cowpea hay makes about a ton per acre. Farmers with dairy cows or any other live stock should sow as much as possible on stubble or any other vacant land. Now is the time to get ready to sow.
